

Nurture Your Natural Neighbors!

Bluff Lake Nature Center is a nonprofit organization. To do our work (educating our community's children and preserving an urban wildlife refuge) we need your help.

Why invest in Bluff Lake Nature Center?

- Bluff Lake's natural, secluded, quiet, and wildlife-rich environment offers a unique experience to visitors and school groups. It is an "island" with wetland, woodland, stream, and prairie surrounded by a dense urban environment.
- Our award winning science education program serves more than 5,000 metro-Denver children every year, specializes in standard's based curricula, and offers free programs to schools in low-income neighborhoods!
- Another 2,000 people from nearby neighborhoods participate in our other educational programming, including Fireside Chats, Junior Naturalist Summer Camps, Earth Day Activities, and more.
- We own and manage the 123 acre refuge as a natural ecosystem without financial help from Denver or Aurora parks departments, and we make the refuge available free of charge every day for people who enjoy nature and wildlife.

Please come out and enjoy Bluff Lake. If you like what you see, we encourage you to become a member.
